

Dear Sirs:

I benefit greatly from the services provided by XM Radio. AMong these are traffic and weather channels. I understand that the NAB is trying to prevent XMRadio from providing these services to us. It's pretty simple to me. If the NAB had ever gotten of their bureaucratic butts and, for once, started paying attention to their listening audiences, there wouldn't even be an XMRadio. There would be no need for one. Quite frankly, the National Association of Broadcasters is a has-been organization and they now stare at their own extinction. The faster, the better.

Please support XMRadio's ability to provide the EXACT kind of programming we demand and receive.

Sincerely,

Nick Olguin
